TUESDAY, JULY 7, 1885.

The Bag War.

The Commissioners appointed to exterminate the white scale and other pests find that their task is a herculean one, and while there has been but little done that shows on the surface, yet the Commissioners claim that they are getting a working force well organized, and they are entitled to the heartiest support from the orchardists of the county. The President of the commission, Mr. Dobbins, has secured the right to the entire county to use without charge, except the bare cost of the material, the preparation that has been so effective at San Gabriel.

It seems that what the Commissioners most require is the moral support of the community—an active moving support instead of dead apathy. The provisions of the ordinance under which the Commissioners work are, that a specific complaint must first be laid before them of some orchard or orchards infested. The Commissioners, after verifying the statement, are then to notify the owner or agent of the existence of the pest. If such owner or agent does not proceed to extirpate it, a time is fixed for him to do so, at the expiration of which, if the work still undone, the Commissioners can proceed against him through the courts and thus secure an abatement of the nuisance. Now, what the Commissioners require to set them in good bunch of complaints. It does not suffice that a general complaint be entered against a whole district. The places where the pests exists must be severally reported. There seems to be a general diffidence about entering such complaints, either because people are afraid of rendering themselves unpopular, or involving themselves in difficulties. But this cause must be assumed by somebody if anything is to be accomplished. It has been suggested that the best way to proceed would be for the orchardists to hold a meeting and appoint committees for the several districts, to search out the infested orchards and report them to the commission. The orchardists are the ones most vitally interested in this matter, and if they do not choose to act themselves they can hardly expect others to act for them.

Let us hope that, by whatever process the result is arrived at, the spraying machines may be started shortly, and kept going as long as there is a bug in sight.

Bradlaugh Again.

The new English Government has had to go through the formula of refusing to allow Bradlaugh, the English agitator and atheist, his seat in the Commons. Bradlaugh's career has been remarkable—as remarkable, in fact, as his tenacity and that of his constituency, in demanding the rights which the English powers deny him. In politics Bradlaugh is liberal, about to the extent of being democratic; in religious views he ranks with Bob Ingersoll. Bradlaugh became a street orator when he was only fourteen or fifteen years old, and from the first promulgated atheistic doctrines. For this offense he was expelled from his home, but he remained in England, constantly acquiring fame and prestige. In 1858 he edited a paper called The Investigator, and a year later he became editor of the National Reformer. In 1873 he visited the United States and lectured. In 1880 he was elected Member of Parliament for Northampton, but for refusing to take the Parliamentary oath (though he afterwards expressed a willingness to do so) he was expelled from the House of Commons. He appealed to his constituency and was re-elected in 1882. Again he was refused admission. Bradlaugh's appearance before the bar of Parliament is a demand for recognition of liberal ideas and a protest against English bigotry. In the contest which was made yesterday the vote stood 363 for rejection and 319 for admission. The margin is not very wide, and Bradlaugh may live to see the day when the majority may be on the other side. Men of strong purpose have overcome greater obstacles than that. What Bradlaugh's peculiar complexion of religious or non-religious belief may be should concern the English Parliament but little, so long as he suits his constituency. We can imagine what a furore would be created in the United States if Congress should attempt to reject a regularly-elected member because he chanced to be a free thinker.

More Water.

There seems to be something out of joint with the sprinkling department of the city. We are paying a good round price for keeping the streets sprinkled, upon which depends not only the comfort but the health of more than 30,000 people. Nothing can be more annoying, or injurious to the public health than to have clouds of dust, composed of the filth of the streets, blown into one's eyes, or breathed into one's lungs. On Sundays, the day of all days when the air should be kept pure, that there may be rest and peace, it seems that it is the custom of the official in charge of the sprinkling to run only a few carts, and these for only a part of the day. The result is, as was the case on Sunday last, that the streets are filled with clouds of dust, ruinous alike to the health and the temper of those who venture out. Nothing can add more to the real comfort and welfare of the people than clean, well-sprinkled streets. Let us have better service and more of it.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

The Chinese Question.

To the Editor of the Times—SIR: I don't doubt Dr. O'Donnell's sincerity when he proclaims his devotion to the working man. I'm a working man myself, or a laborer, if that's more distinctive without being different, and with the natural selfishness of my kind, would inwardly and outwardly rejoice at the expulsion of the Chinese, on the presumption that I'd have steady work and better wages; and then, ten to one, under the control of the same selfish influence, I'd just as gladly be rid of seventy-five per cent. of what was left of the toiling mass, as in that case work and wages to please the most fastidious would be assured for a time at least; though there were labor troubles of a serious nature before the Chinaman's advent, and I opine there would be after his departure.

But for the life of me, I can't see how he interferes with my welfare as a laborer in Los Angeles, or in scores of towns besides. His work seems to be confined to gardening and the laundry, and in a spirit of justice I would ask any laborer in this town if the Chinaman is not welcome when he comes with as many vegetables for ten cents as could be bought for twice the money in a market closed to his competition. We are compelled to admit, though many of us will do so with a reluctance which smacks of bigotry, that he is industrious, economical and inoffensive, traits which would be a great boon to many of us, and seeing that England, France and others take advantage of his peace-loving disposition to invade and take possession of his native country, therefore it is nothing more than right that he should enjoy the privileges of eking out an honest living in foreign lands; and, furthermore, when we stand drinking in the vehement words of denunciation as they drop from the lips of our patriotic orators, we might suggest the propriety of hurling a few bolts of the same material where the real object of attack is pointed—that is, lay the ax to the root and direct the force of argument to those who are responsible. I mean you, I and all the other fellows who vote into power the law-makers. Now, suppose we shift this burden to other shoulders. It is established that the Chinaman is a success in business. We are not indifferent to the cost of food and clothing and, in view of our circumstances, we have no object to a reduction in prices. Let us encourage a Chinaman to start a store in each of those branches of business with which we are concerned; give him our patronage; let one start in our midst, be located, and, I believe, with his proverbial tact and cheap style of living, in the course of human events, the Chinese question will assume an entirely different phase. Dr. O'Donnell will rush to the arena than the Chronicle could shake a stick at in a week, whose business eyes will be opened so wide that they will find a hundred cases of leprosy where the San Francisco Coroner finds one. Don't misunderstand me. I have no object in exaggerating his virtues. I wish rather to consult with my fellow-laborers as to the best method of making the coolie element on this coast have not helped to elevate them. Evil lords must eventually come home to roost, and we desire to stop the process of inundation. We believe in free speech, a free press and the freedom of any man to hire whom he pleases. We believe in letting the coolie alone and the supporters of the six companies also. We simply request a fair hearing from the press when attacked unjustly, and as long as the typos have no grievance against a newspaper, we have none. Our petition to the Council has nearly a thousand signatures affixed already, and we are content to await the action of that body in enforcing the law.

LOS ANGELES, June 6. A. V.

Not a Member of the Holiness Band.

To the Editor of the Times—SIR: We see it stated in your paper that Mr. Douglass was a member of the Holiness Band. The fact is that he never was a member. On Saturday we told him to give himself up to the officers that were on his track. W. H. PORTS.

MEN AND WOMEN.

One drawing-room in the residence of Mrs. James F. Scott, of Philadelphia, cost $100,000 for furnishings and decorations.

President McCosh, of Princeton, has been investigating the relations of college athletics to scholarship. He finds the leading athletes the poorest scholars.

Ex-Senator Tabor, in his quarrel with the dramatic critics of Denver, goes to the extreme. He will not even admit them to his opera house when they purchase tickets.

The abundance of work for all is purely imaginative. If the Saunterer will take a stroll with me, I will agree to point out 500 idle men in one day. Therefore any deduction thus made from a wrong basis are in their nature beyond the pale of controversy.

The Saunterer's main argument is against boycotting, which he terms "dictation," contrary to the spirit of our free republic, and breeding lawlessness. As to the latter, how much of it has appeared in our demonstrations? Who did the "painting" on the glorious Fourth? Was it the Anti-Chinese Union or some other body?

Boycotting is a double-edged weapon, and the white laborers have felt one edge of it for years past. Coolie labor is preferred by many, and the white man walks the streets. Similia similibus curantur, and time will determine if the dose prove to be homœopathic. Therefore, those who employ Chinese in preference to white help have not the least grounds for a grievance against us if we refuse to assist them on their way to wealth, luxury and honors; and we fail to see any dictation in the matter. Competition with coolie labor and the treatment received by ranch hands

Stocks and Bonds.

By Bagnall & Pixley & Pease.

NEW YORK, July 6.—Government bonds are moderately active.

Fluctuations in stocks were almost as important as the amount of business.

A fair rally there were within a range of per cent. The movements up and down within that range were frequent and the market finally closed a little below the closing quotations last week, but the declines in no case exceeded ¼ per cent. for active list, while St. Paul is ½ higher. Other Northern and W. S. & T. are ¼ higher, while Central Pacific is down ½ per cent. The market closed dull and irregular. Monthly statements of the gross earnings for the month of June, 1885, are as follows: Chicago and Northwestern, a decrease as compared with the same month last year of $89,330; Louisville & Nash ville, $1,100,970, decrease $20,700; Chicago and Alton, $95,262, decrease $6,738; Caledonian Pacific, $668,758, increase $131,852; Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha, $467,000, increase $202; and Mexican Central, $300,382, increase $36,846. The statement of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy for the month of May shows gross earnings to be $2,061,901; operating expenses, $1,327,163; net earnings, $734,740. This, as compared with the same month last year, is an increase in gross earnings of $103,776, and an increase in operating expenses of $140,585, and a decrease in net earnings of $47,809. There was also a decrease in net earnings for the first five months of the current calendar year of $241,139.

CATARRH!

And Consumption are Caused by Atmospheric Germs, Which Develop into Parasites. These Diseases are

Scientifically Treated By

W. N. DAVIS, M. D., M. C. P. S. O.

Graduate of "Chicago Homeopathic College," Chicago, and "College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario," Canada.

HOMŒOPATHIC SPECIALIST of Diseases of Ear, Nose, Throat, Chest, and all Chronic Diseases.

CATARRH

Is caused by the presence of parasites, microscopical in size, in the mucous membranes. The germs are deposited from the air and become more readily developed and increase more rapidly in systems debilitated from any cause, as in convalescence after fevers, those suffering from a hypersemic or torpid liver, which fails to cause the blood to become impoverished.

The catarrh first located in the anterior part of the nose and the patient is apt to have a cold in the head, from which he is scarcely ever free. This gradually extends to the posterior nares and mucous is expelled, especially in the morning, from the throat, but in rare cases there is no discharge, a dryness in the nostrils above being present.

If time the mucous membrane becomes thickened, so that respiration through the nose is difficult or impossible, then the germs are deposited still further, in the throat and lungs. This stage of the disease will be noticed by a hacking cough or simply a disposition to clear the throat. Sometimes the germs will lie dormant for years until such time as the tissues become in a favorable state for their development. This condition may be caused by a debilitated nervous system, as in long diseases, when the germ is able to multiply and produce its kind. Then colds do not pass off as other colds do, and we have a case of Chronic Bronchitis or Catarrh of the Lungs, which is often mistaken for consumption and may pass into that disease if not arrested.

Our treatment consists in using such remedies, either in spray or inhalation, as will destroy these germs or parasites, soften the secretions in the lungs and facilitate expectoration. This gives constitutional medicines a chance to build up the system and our mild but effective climate exerts its curative influence. This climate alone very often apparently arrests the disease, but there is always danger of a relapse until the cause is removed. Nasal Catarrh is frequently cured with from one to four applications of medicine. Severe lung disease can be cured if taken in time and in hopeless cases life can be prolonged and comfort given to the patient.

Simple Nasal Catarrh and pharyngitis can be treated at a distance by writing for a list of questions, but if lungs are involved an examination at office is necessary.

Consultation and Examination Free.

"LOCKED OUT."

Express Union Printers Decline to Work for Reduced Wages.

Yesterday the Union compositors of the Evening Express withdrew in a body from that establishment, declining to work for the wages offered them. The established rate of composition for the three daily papers of this city has been for the past year forty-five cents per thousand ems, and the trouble with the Express arose from a notice from the proprietors that they would hereafter pay only forty cents. Representatives of the Typographical Union say that informal notice of this change was made a week or ten days ago, the proprietors of the Express giving as a reason for their action the dullness of business, coupled with a statement that the paper was not paying expenses, and they could no longer afford to pay the standard rate. They further announced their determination to use what is known as "boiler-plate" to fill up their columns. "Boiler-plate" is manufactured in San Francisco and the large Eastern cities, being miscellaneous reading matter put in type, then electrotyped, and sold in quantities as desired, costing about fifteen cents for the equivalent of 1,000 ems. After some deliberation the Union abrogated their rule against the use of "boiler plate" and gave the Express the right to the unlimited use of it, but declined to submit the proposed injustice of wages. Yesterday, when the hour to commence composition arrived, the proprietors of the Express announced that it was their intention to adhere to the 40-cent rate, and the Union men immediately with-drew. Their places were filled with non-Union men and girls, and the paper was issued at the usual hour.

RESOLUTIONS—ANTI-CHINESE UNION.

At the regular meeting of the Anti-Chinese Union, held last night, the following resolutions were adopted by an almost unanimous vote:

Whereas, The proprietors of the Evening Express have locked out their entire force of Union men because of an attempted reduction from 45 to 40 cents per 1000 ems of type, and

Resolved, That we deem such action as unfair and a movement against organized labor; and

Resolved, That we hereby pledge ourselves to withdraw our support from the Evening Express, and use our influence to have others do the same. A. C. U.

L. SCHMIDT, Secretary.

THE JOURNEYMEN TAILORS.

At a meeting of the Journeymen Tailors' Protective Society last night, the following was passed without a dissenting voice:

We, the Journeymen Tailors' Protective Society of Los Angeles, California, do hereby unanimously endorse the action of Los Angeles Typographical Union, No. 174, in their struggle for a maintenance of Union principles, and hereby pledge our hearty support to the members of that organization. Respectfully,

JOURNEYMEN TAILORS' SOCIETY OF LOS ANGELES.

Death of Mrs. Dolch.

On Sunday evening Mrs. Dolch gave reasonable hope that she might endure the terrible ordeal before her, but on Monday morning her temperature had fallen three and a half degrees from the record of the previous evening, while the pulse reached 140. This caused the physicians to abandon hope; and by 9 o'clock the unfavorable turn became evident to the attendants. The hands and feet became cold, the face pinched, the breathing labored, and by 2 o'clock the unfortunate woman was in full collapse, although perfectly conscious. She died between 3 and 4 o'clock, July 6.

This rapid termination confirms the opinion that the ball struck some vital part, as the spinal cord, or the sympathetic nerve; and justifies the course taken at the consultation on Sunday in not operating by opening the abdomen. Peritonitis had not sufficiently developed to force fatal.

The case is indeed pitiful. The husband is almost crazed by the consequences of his thoughtless act. The invalid, Sanchez, is heartbroken. The father is cast down, and the child calls vainly for its mother. No one blames Mr. Dolch except for thoughtlessness.

The County's Reserves.

Since the beginning of the present administration, the Sheriff has been allowed fifty cents per day for the board of each county prisoner. This rate was fixed by the Supervisors "subject to the pleasure of the Board." Yesterday the Board, as may be seen by the report in another column, cut down the allowance to forty cents. County Clerk Dunsmoor has been in correspondence with the clerks of other counties to find out the amounts paid for daily board of prisoners. The results are given in the following table in cents:

San Luis Obispo, (3 meals)	50
Ventura	50
San Bernardino (3 meals)	50
Ventura	75
Fresno, (3 meals when work-ing)	50
San Diego	50
San Joaquin	40
San Francisco	30 97-100

Bad Runaway Accident.

A remarkable runaway accident and almost miraculous escape from death thereby, occurred yesterday morning about 9 o'clock. A span of farm horses attached to a Studebaker wagon went tearing down Spring street. As they reached Second, the fruit wagon of E. Pollard, of San Gabriel, loaded with berries, was just crossing. The pole of the runaway team struck Pollard's wagon amidships, wrecking it badly and spreading the fruit over the adjacent scenery. Pollard went down under the wreck, but by almost a miracle escaped alive. His back was somewhat wrenched, but no one who saw the accident expected to see him emerge save as a corpse.

Will Come Back.

Billy Devere, the pugilist who attempted to murder Ed. W. Kinney last week, and was taken to San Francisco in charge of Captain Benedict to testify in the counterfeiting case, will come back this noon in charge of Deputy Sheriff Aguirre. It seems to have been a curious proceeding to send him away in charge of policemen, who could have no legal authority to hold him. A warrant duly executed was delivered to the Sheriff's office for service, and Aguirre has served it. Devere bragged on leaving this city that he'd never come back, but he seems to have been mistaken.

Accident to a Boy.

Charley, the little son of Mr. McNamara, an employe in W. C. Furrey's store, met with an accident yesterday which will disable him for some time. He was playing with a quantity of powder, trying to make it "go off," and while bending over it, it exploded in his face, burning the flesh and singeing his hair. He was removed to a house near by, and cared for. It is thought that he will not lose his eyesight, although he will be disfigured permanently.

Card of Thanks.

The Flower Festival Society wish to return thanks to every one who so kindly assisted with their ice cream festival on July 4. Especially to Messrs. Day and Brown, who so generously gave them the use of their music store all day and evening. The society acknowledge their obligation to the Finance Committee also for their management of the festival. The receipts will aid in furnishing the Woman's Home at 119 Fort street.

FANNIE SAWYER, Secretary.

A Card of Thanks.

I take this opportunity to express my thanks to the San Francisco Typographical Union No. 21 for their kindness in sending me a death benefit of $60 for my late husband, W. W. Smith; also to the Los Angeles Union for their kindness in attending funeral and for other favors shown before his death.

Respectfully,

Mrs. W. W. SMITH.

A Lively Street Fight.

At 9 a. m. yesterday a lady and her 15-year-old daughter boarded car No. 7 of the City Railroad, on Fifth street. At the Court House a woman, who resides on Buena Vista street, just south of Bellevue avenue, got on. Neither paid any attention to the other. At Commercial street the lady first mentioned rose to pull the strap. The other jumped up also, and crying "You ——, you got my husband away from me," pitched in with nail and fist. The driver interfering, both got off the car, and the fight was continued in the street, in the presence of a crowd. Buena Vista street forced the fighting and mauled her opponent ably, with frequent hair-pulling. The girl stood by calling for the police until the fight ceased. No arrests.

SUICIDE BY SHOOTING.

How a Frenchman Celebrated the Fourth at Kent's.

Kent's station is a platform beside the Southern Pacific Railroad above Newhall, in the Soledad cañon. For 13 or 14 years a bachelor Frenchman named Claude Roy has resided on his little rancho near the station. Some four years ago he was hit over the head with a club, and ever since has had brain trouble. He got up early last Saturday morning and moved about naturally. About 10 o'clock he went up a few rods to the house, put a revolver to his right temple and fired. He lingered until yesterday, and then expired. He was 53 years of age, and was born in France.

A Trip Through the East.

Dr. J. L. Lauterman of La Cañada returned yesterday from an extensive trip through the Eastern States. He went from here to Chicago, then to Detroit and from there to the New Orleans Exposition, stopping long enough in Kentucky to visit the famous Mammoth Cave. He was much pleased with the New Orleans exhibit, but concluded that financially it was a terrible failure. From New Orleans he went to Cincinnati, Washington, Mt. Vernon, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and New York, coming back via the Northern Pacific and spending some time in Oregon.

New Real Estate Firm.

Geo. D. Carleton & Co. is a new real estate firm in this city, located at 15 West First street. Mr. Carleton is a well known resident of Southern California—formerly of Riverside, later of Florence, and now of this city. He has had large experience in handling fruit, grain and stock ranches. Mr. M. Summerfield is a real estate dealer long a resident of Los Angeles. The new firm will undoubtedly prosper.

No Roller Coaster on Sundays.

Mr. Will Beach, who lately purchased the Gravity Railroad, at the corner of Sixth and Flower streets, positively declines to open it to the public on Sundays. Although that day would be the most profitable of the week, Mr. Beach will not violate his conscientious scruples, believing in the old-time observance of the Sabbath, and that proper respect for that day is the basis of all morality.

The Great Sale To-night—Arrangement for Ladies.

In the great sale by catalogue at the Diamond House to-night are superb pins, earrings, bracelets and combs of Genoese silver work. These goods should have arrived forty days ago.
